Commercial Opportunities at Alconbury Weald's Enterprise Campus

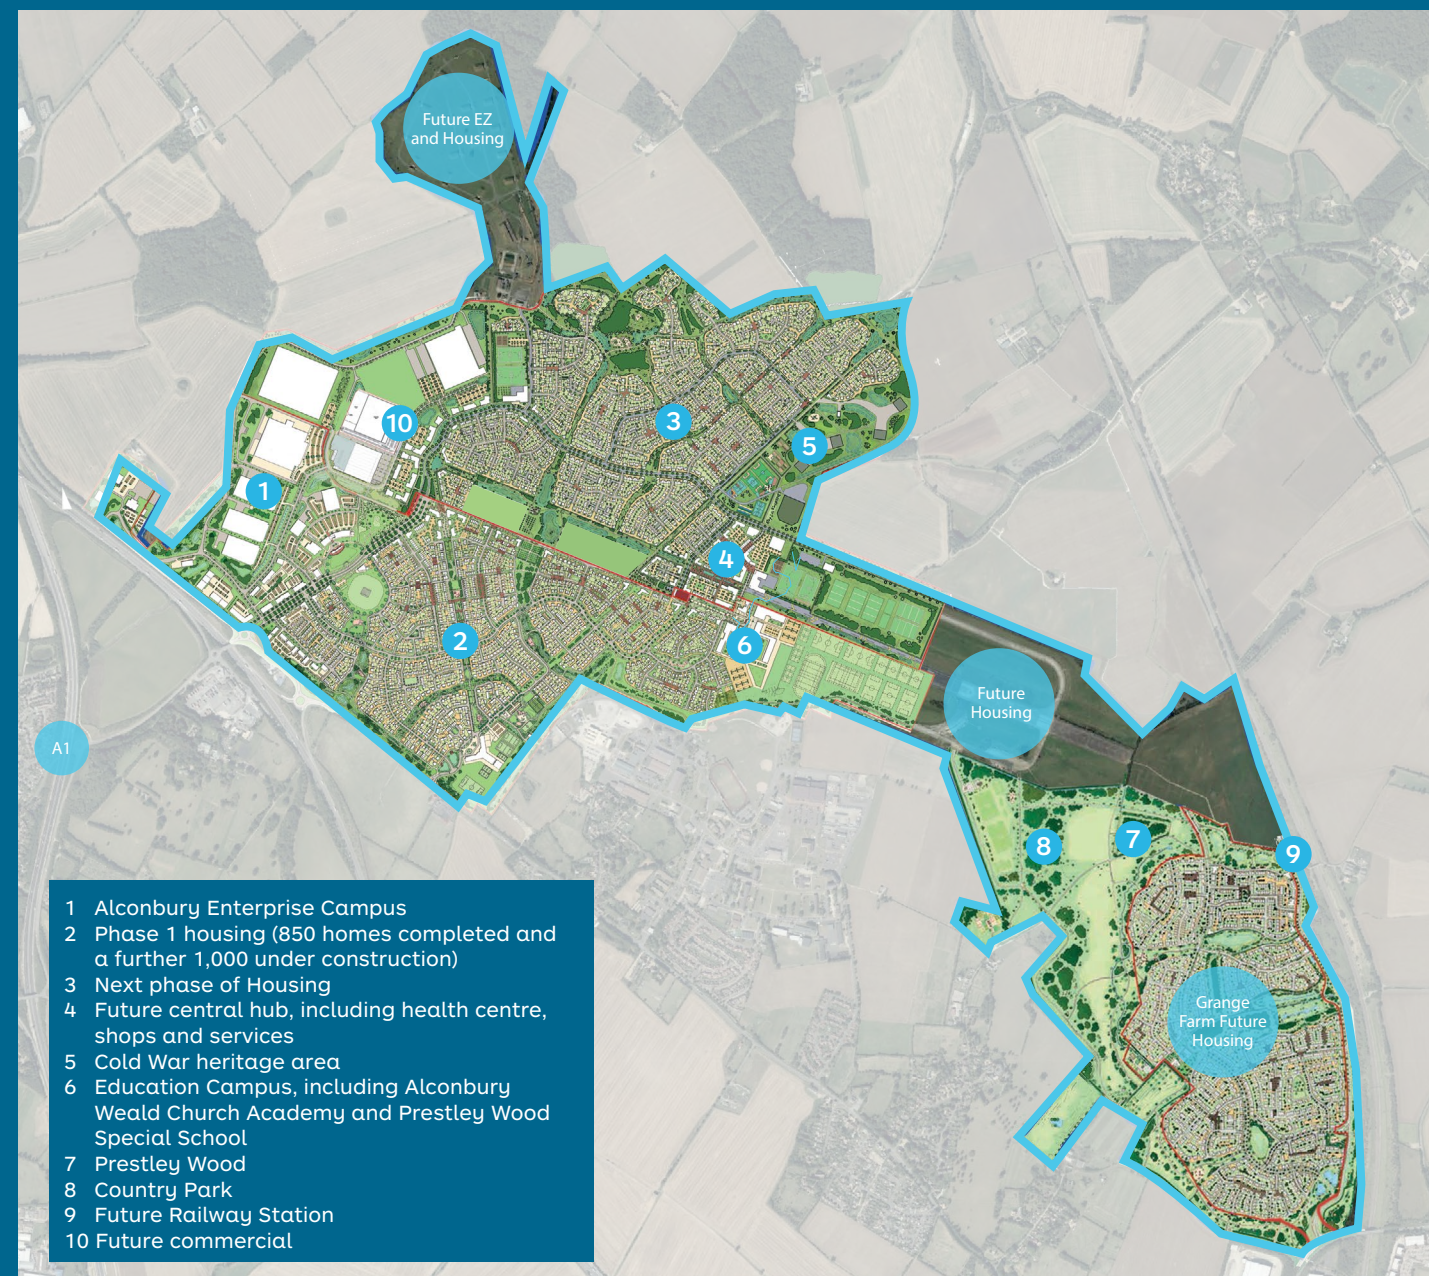

Design & build sites
(or consented employment land)
from 0.5 acres up to 50+ acres.

Alconbury Weald is a major new business area for Cambridgeshire, being bought forward by masterdeveloper Urban&Civic.

Located on the site of the former RAF Alconbury, the 1,425-acre site will provide three million sq ft of space for businesses, alongside 6,500 new homes with green corridors to a number of large parks and spaces, schools, shops and other facilities..

Over 1.5 million sq ft of employment space has already been constructed and occupied.

A place to grow

Alconbury Weald Enterprise Campus is more than a business park. It has been designed to respond to the desire of both employers and employees to provide more than a place of work, but a working, living and leisure community in which businesses can thrive.

For those already working and living at Alconbury Weald, there is an abundance of amenities and activities, from cycle and walking routes to shops and cafés, to support a healthy, dynamic and enjoyable lifestyle.

By making Alconbury Weald's Enterprise Campus your next home, you are joining a working community of more than 2,000 employees from businesses of all scales.

Companies already calling Alconbury Weald home include; Ambu plc, Roythornes Solicitors, Cambridgeshire County Council, Encocam; MM Flowers Ltd, John Adams Leisure Ltd, AM Fresh and IKO Insulations UK Ltd. Alconbury Weald is a location where all the foundations for growth are already in place.

The Club, Urban & Civic's Alconbury Weald office also provides a gym, library, meeting and event space.

There are a number of development plots still available within the first phase of Alconbury Weald Enterprise Campus.

Development plots can be sold either as a serviced land parcel, or alternatively a full design and build service can be provided.

We would be delighted to discuss your businesses requirements and are able to offer a range of occupier solutions to meet your needs.

Relaxing outside the wartime Watch Office building

Alconbury Weald is not just a place to do business. It's a real community, a place to collaborate, a place to make friends, and a place to be inspired. With the development well into its first phase, and plans to deliver a total of 6,500 homes, four schools, a café, library, health centre, shops, gym, and 700 acres of woodland, parks and sports pitches, those who work here enjoy much more than just a first-rate business address.

With over 800 families moved in, and 12 show homes open, the community is growing every day.

The Unit Fitness run the gym and a range of fitness classes

Regular pop-up food events serve the community two evenings a week and for regular events

Inside the Watch Office kitchen and bar

The Pavilion and Cricket Pitch host a range of fitness and sports events, from regular cricket games, to interbusiness tournaments, as well as football events, yoga and t'ai chi.
